From Our Director, Jody Cole

May is a month of anticipation and remembrance. It's a month in which we look forward to summer and all that summer brings. Near the middle of the month we celebrate mothers and all they do and have done. And at the end of the month we remember our loved ones who have given their lives in the service of our country.

We are looking forward and back here at the library, too. We're looking forward to working with our new Youth Services Director Sami McCulloch and saying good-bye and good luck to Kathryn Prada who returned to her hometown in New York. We're especially looking forward to our visit with Super Reader Floyd Stokes on May 10. Join us at 6 p.m. for a Free Fun Family Event with Mr. Stokes who will read from his books. Refreshments will be served and you can register to win Dutch Wonderland tickets. Bring your library card for a special prize!

See you at the library!

A Summer Read

Author Sam Quinones Dreamland: The True Tale of America's Opiate Epidemic

An explosive true account of addiction, marketing and the making of an epidemic weaves together the story of Purdue Pharma's campaign to market OxyContin, while, at the same time, a massive influx of black tar heroin took the county by storm through an almost unbreakable marking and distribution system.

MOMS CLUB

With a recent generous donation of $2,500 from the Moms' Club of Shippensburg to the Shippensburg Public Library, many purchases were made possible to enhance the children's wing. These new purchases included: two kid sized reading nook benches with storage for toys underneath, a felt board, a tote with felt storytelling pieces, four colorful small stools for the children to enjoy in the program room, a revolving floor rack for kit bags, and tall seating for parents to use at the high counter across from the children's computers.

Fashions of Fiction

The Shippensburg Public Library, in partnership with the Fashion Archives and Museum of Shippensburg University, has crafted a display to draw attention to the new exhibit at the museum. The exhibit entitled The Fashions of Fiction from Pamela to Gatsby showcases the clothing which adds to the authors' visions of the characters. The library display assists the reader by offering visual touches from these notable works. The novels are: Pamela by Samuel Richardson (1740), Ourika by Claire de Duras (1823), Jane Eyre by

Library Receives Facelift

Carbaugh and Landi painting contractors Jeremy Landi, Dab Carbaugh, and Curt Carbaugh recently gave the Shippensburg Public Library a facelift. After painstaking preparation, they painted the parlor/living room (which holds the dvd/music collection), the downstairs and upstairs hallways, along with with the original dining room where the mystery collection can now be found. The new paint was selected from a colonial revival palette to maintain the architectural integrity of the circa 1800’s Stewart home. The project was completed while the library remained operational, thanks to the efforts of Carbaugh and Landi. Although the wallpaper dating from the 1936 renovation had to be removed, a section of it remains in a frame retrofitted by Ike Black, a local carpentry specialist. It is on display in the downstairs hallway.

Our new look is made possible thanks to Carbaugh & Landi Painting Contractors and from the 2016 Elmer Naugle Foundation Grant.

Book Nook Manager
Samantha McCulloch joins our staff as the new Director of Youth Services having worked previously at the John Graham Library. Samantha is from Newville, and comes to the Shippensburg Public Library from the Waidner-Spahar Library at Dickinson College in Carlisle. Samantha began her duties on April 30th. Cooking, baking and knitting are things she enjoys, and says she knew she wanted to be a librarian since the age of 12. Her favorite youth series is Harry Potter. Please make her feel welcomed.
