From Our Director, Jody Cole

The pictures tell the story of the great summer learning program we had. We kicked it off at the beginning of June and ended with our Kiwanis pizza party on the very last day of July. Some new entertainers came as did our tried-and-true ones. Thanks to all of our sponsors and volunteers for making this the best summer programming ever!

So here we are in the last month of summer—trying to stay cool. We slow down our youth programming as we plan and prepare for fall. But we’re continuing with our playgroup, Monday Movie Matinees, and Lego Challenge.

For adults, though, we have two programs the last two weeks of the month. Dr. Richard Stewart will be here on August 22nd to talk about ticks and Lyme disease in our area, and Andrew Williams will be here on August 29th to talk about personal safety issues in his Refuse To Be a Victim presentation.

Join us here at your community library to learn about subjects that affect all of us and to meet new people and see the friends whom you already know.

Generous Donation

The Book Nook has been fortunate recently to receive a large donation of a private book collection. Dr. Bernard Toney, a retired Shippensburg University professor of history and library science, and his late wife Jeannie were avid collectors of books. They amassed a collection estimated to be between twenty and thirty thousand volumes. The collection represents a side ranging assortment of genres and subject matter, evidence of their interest in many topics and their love of books.

Greg Haskett, Toney's nephew and his wife Kateri, have been working at Toney's home to sort, pack, and unload truckloads of book donations. These books have been housed at Dr. Toney's home, known as the Colonel Burd house. When the Toneys moved to Shippensburg in the 1970's they purchased the house on the corner of Britton and Fogelsonger Roads and began a lifelong love of the community. Dr. Toney's love of knowledge and desire to share with others is evidenced through his charitable giving which was done without fanfare. Kateri revealed that Uncle Bernie, although appearing to be somewhat reserved, is very loving and caring.

Dr. Toney recently transitioned into a local elderly care facility, and typical of his generous spirit combined with his love of books, has made the Book Nook the recipient of his massive collection. In addition to his love of books, Toney is a dog lover. He has made the Shippensburg Public Library and a local animal shelter among his beneficiaries. Thank you Dr. Toney for your generosity and all you have done for the Shippensburg community.
Special Programs

Ticks and Lyme Disease

Dr. Richard Stewart will share information concerning tick-borne pathogens in our local area on Wednesday evening August 22nd from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in our Community Room. Dr. Stewart received his Ph.D. in Entomology from Ohio State University and is entering his seventeenth year as a professor of biology at Shippensburg University. His studies include wildlife diseases with an emphasis on tick-borne pathogens. He started a long-term disease project at State Game Lands 169 (near Newville) and has been studying Lyme disease since 1991 when he started his Masters degree at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Meet Us at the Library!

2nd Tuesday Book Club
Sciencetellers engaged and entertained our young and adult audience with amazing feats of science! With hands-on assistance from volunteers, experiments showed how rainbow indicators exhibit the differences between acids and bases.

SUMMER LEARNING WRAP-UP PARTY

Tuesday, July 31st concluded the Summer Learning Program at the Shippensburg Public Library with the annual Wrap-up Party in the Community Room. The young readers and families were treated to pizza, fruit, veggies, and beverages provided by the Shippensburg Kiwanis Club. Kiwanis members were on hand to serve those attending the celebration.

PIZZA & PRIZES!

Becky Gardner, Kiwanis member and her daughter, Gracie, served pizza to Library summer reading patrons.

Seven year old, Gavin Hendricks is shown holding his raffle prize: a new backpack, and McDonalds and Pizza Hut gift certificates.

If readers were unable to attend the party but have prizes to redeem, they have until Wednesday, August 15 to pick up their prizes.

A SUMMER READ

Dreamland: the true tale of America's opiate epidemic
by Sam Quinones

An explosive true account of addiction, marketing and the making of an epidemic weaves together the story of Purdue Pharma’s campaign to market OxyContin, while, at the same time, a massive influx of black tar heroin took the county by storm through an almost unbreakable marking and distribution system.
