"In this heartfelt and universal story, a mother and daughter look forward to their special Saturday routine together every single week. But this Saturday, one thing after another goes wrong—ruining storytime, salon time, picnic time, and the puppet show they’d been looking forward to going to all week. Mom is nearing a meltdown...until her loving daughter reminds her that being together is the most important thing of all."

Please join acclaimed author and illustrator Oge Mora, as she speaks virtually to children across the state on Tuesday, April 5 at 10:00 am. During this event, Ms. Mora will talk about her work as a storyteller and answer questions from librarians, teachers, and students alike. Register for this free event here.

2022 Longwood Gardens Community Read "Listening to Trees"

What would a tree tell us if we just took the time to listen? Trees represent growth, peace, and nature while teaching us how to plant deep roots and reach for the sky. They also may help us gain insight into ourselves and our place in the world.

This year we are showcasing three titles for our community read. They can all be requested through our online card catalog by simply clicking on the links below.

The Songs of Trees: Stories from Nature’s Great Connectors
by David George Haskell

Journey with David Haskell as he repeatedly visits a dozen trees in cities from Manhattan to Jerusalem, forests (Amazonian, North American, and boreal) and areas on the front lines of environmental change, including eroding coastlines, burned mountainsides, and war zones. In each place he shows how human history, ecology, and well-being are intimately intertwined with the lives of trees.

Scientific, lyrical, and contemplative, The Songs of Trees reveals the biological connections that underpin all life. In a world beset by barriers, Haskell reminds us that life’s substance and beauty emerge from relationships and interdependence.

Additionally, there are two virtual programs this month being presented by David Haskell. There is also an interactive Community Read Storymap that highlights some of the trees featured in Haskell's book.

We Planted a Tree
by Diane Muldrow

In this poetic picture book with environmental themes and illustrated by award-winning artist Bob Staake, two young families in two very different parts of the world each plant a tree.

As the trees flourish, so do the families . . . while trees all over the world help clean the air, enrich the soil, and give fruit and shade.

With a nod to Kenya’s successful Green Belt Movement, Muldrow’s elegant text celebrates the life and hope that every tree—from Paris to Brooklyn to Tokyo—brings to our planet.

Canopy Career Chronicles
by the team at the Morton Arboretum (Illinois)

This engaging graphic novel follows the stories of eight people pursuing careers caring for and protecting trees. Each character’s journey takes a different path, highlighting the skills, experiences, and inspirations of this diverse field of professionals. Learn more.

This year is the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Shippensburg Band. The band developed and changed members and styles over many years, beginning in the late 1800s. Even before the Shippensburg Band formed, though, there was a precedent for town bands. For example, records indicate a band played Hail Columbia as the first train went through Shippensburg in the early 1800s.

In 1886 the Cumberland Valley (CV) Hose Company organized the first brass band in Shippensburg. Their first engagement was at the Lutheran congregation’s Harvest Home Picnic held at Hocks’ woods. The band received $10.

Monday, July 10, 1922 was the first time Professor Salvadore Colangelo provided lessons for interested men. That same year, Clarence Smith rode by train from Carlisle to Shippensburg to meet with “16 anxious faces” who became the “nucleus of the Shippensburg Band.” Shippensburg entered a new era. The Shippensburg Band grew to 33 members. The band was an all-male band until 1963 or 1964 when Mrs. Winnona Wadel Carver joined the band.

From that time on, the Shippensburg Band has been presenting concerts in school buildings, open air venues, churches, etc. as well as...
Ten years later, the Citizens Cornet Band was organized: its predecessor was the Silver Cornet Band. In 1902, the name of the Citizens Cornet Band was changed to the WC Snodgrass Cornet band as a compliment to Mr. Snodgrass.

Newspapers indicate that in 1907, the Mummers Parade on New Year’s Day was led by the Shippensburg Cornet Band who was followed by the Citizens Cornet Band of Oakville with the Shippensburg Drum Corps next in the line-up.

In 1910, a group of young men playing wind instruments & drums organized the Edward Shippen Military Band. The uniform style was that of military academy cadets.

Today’s band has two smaller satellite bands. In 1982 Ron Garman created the Jazz Band (now referred to as the Swing Band). The Swing Band is currently under the direction of Vicki Baker and focuses exclusively on the sounds and selections that fall under the genres of rhythm & blues, oldies, and jazz. Kurt Richter organized the German Band in 1985 so that they could entertain as a typical German brass band. This is the type of music that gets you to clap your hands, sing along, and dance to the traditional folk tunes usually presented at German festivals--music that is reminiscent of old Bavaria.

The band will be hosting a concert featuring current and former members on Sunday, May 1st at Church of the Brethren, 253 E Garfield Street in Shippensburg.
