MISSION

Joseph T. Simpson Public Library is a community center for learning and leisure.

The keyword for 2024 continues to be “growth”. Cumberland County continues to be one of the fastest growing counties in Pennsylvania! More people are coming to the library every day, more people are attending our programs, and more people are reading and borrowing books and other materials.

Libraries open the door to a lifetime of opportunities. Our programs and events enhance library experiences at Simpson Library. At the end of this year, we will be opening the new Learning and Book Sale Center at 45 W. Allen Street and will have additional space for more library programs and community meeting space. The library has been an impactful resource to our community and continues this tradition moving forward.

More than ever, your support dollars make things happen at Simpson Public Library and help the library keep up with these growing times. Please consider making a tax-deductible donation today to continue and expand impactful experiences at Simpson Library.

Sincerely,

Dawna Trump, Development Coordinator
